When Clients access the website (“visitor(s)”, “they”, “them”), we may collect identifiable or non-identifiable information with the use of cookies and log data.

Definitions

“Cookies”: small text files that are placed on the Client’s computer/browser or device when they visit a website. Their computer stores it in a file located on web browser. They are used to help the browser remember their choices and display personalized information. Furthermore, they are used to make websites work, provide features, or function efficiently, as well as to provide information to the owner of the site, i.e. pages visited, number of visitors etc. Some cookies also enable the display of relevant advertising.

“Third Party Cookie”: a cookie provided by a third party (e.g. Google Analytics) for which we have no control over.

“Session”: If a cookie does not contain an expiration date, it is considered a session cookie. Session cookies are stored in memory and never written on disk. When the browser closes, the cookie is permanently lost from this point on.

“Persistent”: cookies which stay in one of your browser’s subfolders until the Client deletes them manually, or the browser deletes them based on the duration period contained within the persistent cookie’s file.

Depending on the cookie type, the Company keeps track of different activities and data. For a detailed list of cookies, please refer to the Policy below.

B. Managing Analytics Cookies

We use Google Analytics, which relies on cookies to help us understand how visitors use our website and how they interact with its features. This information allows us to personalize and improve your experience on our site. The data collected through these cookies is stored by Google and later used to analyze site usage and generate reports about website and internet activity.

If you prefer, you can opt out of anonymous tracking from third-party analytics cookies by visiting our service provider's opt-out page here: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>

C. Purpose of Using Cookies

Axwel uses data collected through cookies to monitor and analyse the use of our site and for its technical administration. This enables Axwel to improve site features and generate valuable data regarding the interests, characteristics, usage, and behavior of visitors. Furthermore, we use cookies to integrate personalized settings and understand visitors' preferences for analytics purposes.

Occasionally, we use cookies to make it easier to navigate the site, improve overall experience, or provide information that aligns with visitors' interests. These cookies help us deliver a more personalized experience and enhance both our website and the quality of our services and products.

Axwel may share aggregated information, i.e. queries and offers generated from your use of the website, including non-identifying information and Log Data, with third parties. This serves industry analysis, demographic profiling, and other commercial purposes. This also allows us to deliver targeted advertising. Any aggregated information shared in these contexts will not contain any personal information.

D. Managing Cookies

Axwel respects your privacy, and we herein provide you with all information needed to manage the cookies you receive from web services. For the use of the platform, essential cookies are necessary. Opting out of these cookies will affect the provision of the relevant services and platform's functionality.

At any time, you can delete cookies from the settings in your web browser. In doing so, you accept that our website and other websites may not function properly, and you may not be able to sign in. Further information on deleting or controlling cookies can be found at www.aboutcookies.org.

Do Not Track (DNT) browser setting

DNT is a feature offered by some browsers which, when enabled, sends a signal to websites to request that your browsing is not tracked. This website does not currently respond to DNT requests.

E. Third-Party Cookies

We do not have control over external websites or over any banners or links on our website that lead to third party pages. These third parties may place their own cookies or files on your device, collect data, or request personal information, all in accordance with their own privacy policy. We encourage you to read the privacy policies and other terms of such third parties before accessing or using them.
